

ABSTRACT

[0032] The present invention provides a positioner for controlling the position of a femoral hip implant within the intramedullary canal of a femur.